

The Gospel of John Is Important, So...

John introduced his book by going back even further into history. Invoking the “in the beginning” language of Genesis 1:1, John made a direct link between the nature of God and the nature of the Word, Jesus Christ. The emphasis on the deity of Christ is a striking quality of John’s gospel.

John wrote so that we might “... believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name.” (John 20:31). To accomplish that goal, John presented a picture of Jesus, one in complete unity with the other three gospels, that adds significantly to the Bible’s revelation of Jesus Christ, the God-man.

John used a variety of techniques to communicate to his readers the nature of Jesus. These include his citation of Jesus’s seven “I am” statements and recalls Jesus performing seven different miracles.

Jesus’s identity as the divine Son of God sets Him apart from any other person who ever lived. He carries with Him the transcendence that comes only with God Himself. Therefore, His work on our behalf makes our salvation sure.

Because He is God, Jesus’ sacrifice on the cross has eternal implications, unlike the limited effect of the animal sacrifices in the Old Testament. Jesus, the “God-in-the-flesh”, has atoned for our sins. We can place our confidence in Him because of His divine nature. (Read the book of Hebrews for more details.)

For readers of John’s gospel, the question is a simple: Do you believe that Jesus is God? If so, are you willing to be born again of “...born of water and the Spirit.” (John 3:5)
